

Perspectives

Style Scheme

1

2

3

4

5

6

It's Go Time

Interior designer Megan van der Kieft has big ideas when it comes to designing a powder room. "My theory is that powder rooms are your opportunity to make a statement. Their small size makes homeowners more open to taking design risks and presents an opportunity to say, "This is who we are," she says. Color is a great tool for making an impression, van der

Kieft says, and the Phillip Jeffries paper is a stand-out with its rich blue color with a hint of green. The movement of the tree branches along with the large scale creates a "wow factor." The hemp-wrapped sconces and mirror with bird detailing further the natural theme, while the chunky, modern silhouette of the Waterworks sink provides contrast. A lovely fragrance via a diffuser is the final touch. | Megan van der Kieft, Margo Moore Interiors, Camden, Maine, (207) 236-4596, margomoore.com

7

- 1. Formwork Lithic single pedestal sink, Waterworks, Boston Design Center, waterworks.com
- 2. Delaunay tile in polished Cloud Nine and Dolomite, New Ravenna, Distinctive Tile & Design, Portland and Kennebunk, Maine, distinctivetileanddesign.com
- 3. Katy hemp sconce, Ro Sham Beaux, Margo Moore Interiors
- 4. Opus low-profile lavatory faucet with crystal egg handles, Waterworks
- 5. Blossom 6400 wallpaper in porcelain blue on marshmallow manila hemp, Phillip Jeffries, Boston Design Center, phillipjeffries.com
- 6. Bamboo reed diffuser by Nest, Margo Moore Interiors
- 7. Joelle mirror, Made Goods, Margo Moore Interiors

| EDITED BY LYNDA SIMONTON |